Executive Summary

It is known that the themes of written poems in Hausa were purely religious especially from 17th up to early 20th century but some poets seem to deviate from such tradition by coming up with multi-purpose themes while others, like Alkntamawi, stick to the former tradition in their poems with little changes in approach. The fundamental aims of this research is to study some poems written by Abubakar Ibrahim Alkantamawi in order to pin point the contents, forms and styles the poet uses in composing his poems. The method applied for the research include: collection of some written text and recorded audio of his poems as well as conducting interview and visitation of relevant places for gathering data. The findings reveal that the poet uses different contents, forms and styles in composing his poems. Xangambo's Xangambo's Theory of Appreciation on Hausa Written Poetry is adopted throughout the research work.

Key word: sharhi, nazari, taska and tsokaci.
